Looking Backward in State Journal Society Column

TWENTY YEARS AGO TODAY

December 13, 1899.

An Associated Press dispatch announces that Miss Maude Rose Davis, of Los Angeles, formerly of Topeka, was married to Mr. Herbert Merrill Quibby, of Detroit, Michigan, Tuesday, December 12, in Glenn Park, N. Y.

When a little girl Miss Davis lived in Topeka and from there she went to Los Angeles and began developing her voice. She studied voice years in Boston and two in Paris with the best masters. For two years she has been the soloist with Sousa's band. She is a niece of R. M. and Z. Davis and a cousin of George Stansfield.

Mrs. T. A. Beck entertained the "Every Other Week" club Tuesday afternoon. Mrs. A. A. Godard substituted for Miss Taylor. Miss Katherine for Miss Rosa Burr. Mrs. W. Taylor left today after a few days visit in Topeka with relatives. Miss Abby Ware will attend the Delta Theta party in Lawrence Friday evening.

relics and to put them on display in the Memorial building. A great many families have helmets and guns and medals and badges now which may be lost later. There was a feeling now is the time to begin gathering them together.

A Topeka girl who is going east to fill an interesting position and one that will lead to wide opportunities, is Miss Frances Gaw, the younger daughter of Judge and Mrs. Ralph H. Gaw. Miss Gaw will leave about December 30 for Boston where she will be an interne in a hospital, a large and famous institution where much research and experimental work is done. Miss Gaw will treat patients for their mental age and ability. She specialized in psychology while in college. She graduated from Yale in 1918. She has been at home and has spent some time in business college.

The women of the club house team of which Mrs. R. M. Johnson is captain will lunch together at Pelletier's Monday noon.

Miss Helen Yoder of Topeka was one of the players in the Junior League Polka in Kansas City last night and again tonight whose picture was run in the Kansas City Star yesterday. Miss Yoder has the part of Singara, a gypsy fortune teller. She also has a place in the chorus.

Miss Marjorie Blank entertained a few girls at a sewing party this afternoon.

The women of the Military Sisterhood have taken action for the miners at Pittsburg. They appointed two Pittsburg women to do all they could for the volunteer miners, to visit those in the hospital and do anything else possible. They are Mrs. Jennie C. Graves and Mrs. Harry Izgan, Jr. They are also finding out if there is anything in the line of clothing they can supply the men with. A number of women have offered to give knitted socks so the Sisterhood is finding out if they are needed. To the national guardmen who are in the coal fields they sent a letter of appreciation and commendation written by Mrs. E. C. Fable. Their tireless work at $1 a day seems to these women as patriotic as any war service.

At the meeting this week it was decided at the suggestion of Mrs. Hulda C. Church to begin collecting war tioned at Camp Funston, where he will be in the camp exchange until February 1, when he will receive his discharge and he and his bride will go to Topeka, S. D.

Y. W. C. A. secretaries must lead interesting lives. They seem to know all things and to be able to do all things. You may see one taking cash in the dining room and a few minutes later she is teaching some one how to swim, hunting a job for a girl, making a poster, getting a notice from a strict manager, or addressing an important meeting. Their days seem very full of many things. And yet they must have a spare moment some time, for the Association of Employed Officers of the Y. W. C. A. has suggested they read the following books, or part of them before April 1, 1920:

The Mount of Vision—Brent.
The Christian Ideal in the Modern World—Calkins.
In a Day of Social Rebuilding—Coffin.
The Church and the Crowd—Hogge.
Religious Experience of Israel—Hutchins.
The Book of the Person of Jesus Christ—Mackintosh.
Democratic Christianity—McConnell.
A Theology for a Social Gospel—Rauschenbush.
Prayer—Streeter.
The Opportunity for Religion—Ward.
Principles of Labor Legislation—Commons & Andrews.
Progressive Democracy—Croly.
Conscience—Elder—Dewey.
The Little Town—Douglass.
Rural Life—Gibson.
The Hope of the Consumer—Harris.
The Science of Power—Kidd.
The Creative Impulse in Industry—Marot.
Trapped Roads to Freedom—Russett.
China, a Study in Contrasts—Stoddard.
Out of the Shadow—Cohen.
The Road to Mexico—Cooper.
Memoirs of a Revolutionist—Kropotkin.
The American Ideal—Parker.
The Rise of the Spanish-American Republic—Robertson.
Story of a Pioneer—Shaw.
Ambassador Morgenthau's Story—Morgenthau.
Theodore Roosevelt—Thayer.

They also suggest secretaries keep in touch with the following periodicals: Atlantic Monthly, Independent, Life and Labor, Literary Digest, Nation, New Republic, Outlook, Survey, Manchester Guardian, (weekly).

In Betty Ann's Little Tattle in the Kansas City Independent is the following paragraph which is of interest here as the girl of the story is the guest of Mrs. Barrington Lodge in Tyler street, conducting picture shows and entertainments. They are ever watchful and no opportunity escapes them. When they heard that Miss Lobsenz would spend Christmas with her parents in Topeka, they began making arrangements for a concert which she will give December 22 at the Grand theater.

Mrs. F. W. Thomas is chairman of the team which will manage this concert. The members: Mrs. Thomas, Mrs. E. L. Copeland, Mrs. George Hayes, Mrs. T. F. Doran, Mrs. W. W. Strickland, Mrs. Robert Merrick, Mrs. W. A. Fioresch, Mrs. W. F. Wilkerson, Mrs. E. D. Schoenberger, Mrs. Grace King, Mrs. E. C. Fable.

The Minerva club will meet at 2:30 Monday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Leland McAfee will be the assisting hostess.

The Junior Atlantic club will meet Tuesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. H. L. Hillier, 308 West Eighth street.

CONFIDENTIAL:

You better sit down and take off your coat for this is going to be good. Part of it was heard in the back seat of a big closed car. And you know people who own back seats of big glassed in cars know something and will tell it occasionally, even if they do realize they are in a glass house, as it were.

First, there's the story about the little bride of a few weeks who called her husband at his office frantically one day. She was weeping, so he couldn't understand what was the matter, except that she wanted him to come home. He summoned a taxi cab and rushed to her. And then he sent for the plumber who after hours it seemed arrived and took the lava pipe apart and found the cause of the disturbance and made the little bride breathe easy again. It was her little platinum wedding ring round with diamonds that she had lost down the drain pipe. "Oh," she breathed, "I feel safe and married again."

Another young married woman, the bride of more than a year, wanted a pair of shoes which her husband, using his authority, said she oughtn't to think of having. She tried to forget her desire for them and to realize that $20 is a lot of money. But it was in vain. At last she went to the store and purchased the shoes and charged them to her father, reasoning thus: "If I weren't married, he'd have to buy me lots of pairs of shoes, so this just ought to make him grateful and not sore."

A group of society people are wondering what is going to develop in a certain case. The wife of a well known Topeka man, who more or less in the public eye, has an affinity, it is said, in the husband of another woman. Everyone knows it, and this is what they're wondering: When the wife of the involved man gets tired of the foolishness and decides to start a case of her own what will happen, for she is a dash, good looking woman who had more cases than she knew what to do with a few years ago. If she should start her husband's own game, he'd be so busy keeping the reputation of his house and getting the children's sippers that he would have no time for his present "interest."

They say that a certain rather well known woman with a son and an "ex" husband and a prominent well-to-do man with an "ex" wife are growing more interested every day and that soon they will be buying a wedding license again.

described by kind friends as "statuesque," was called on the phone the other day and asked, "Are you the society column?"

Two women who are prominent in the Woman's club have given but a "widow's mite" to the club house fund and are planning at the same time to spend a whole pile of money on an unnecessary pleasure. They are brave women.

HEAD STUFFED FROM CATARRH OR A COLD

Says Cream Applied in Nostrils Opens Air Passages Right Up.

Instant relief—no waiting. Your clogged nostrils open right up; the air passages of your head clear and you can breathe freely. No more sneezing, sniffing, blowing, headache, dryness. No struggling for breath at night; your cold or catarrh disappears. Get a small bottle of Ely's Cream Balm from your druggist now. Apply a little of this fragrant, antiseptic, healing cream in your nostrils. It penetrates through every air passage of the head, soothes the inflamed or swollen mucous membrane and relief comes instantly.

It's just fine. Don't stay stuffed-up with a cold or nasty catarrh—Adv.

Mrs. Mabel Spizly will come from Frankfort next week to spend Christmas with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. H. E. Seede. Miss Adelaide Seede, who teaches at Troy, will also be home for Christmas.

A Day of It

Lucy and I Solve Our Shopping Problems

BY FANNIE READ

I had a most horrible dream last night. My whole Xmas list formed in a circle about me—every one was there from Georgiana to the furnace man, with their arms full of packages tied with bright ribbons and they bowed and smiled like a chorus girl company. And oh the agony of it all—my hands were empty. I didn't have a single gift for them. I called to Jerry but he stayed in the circle and bowed and smiled like a doll that had been wound up and couldn't stop. It gives one a sinking feeling when your own husband won't come to your rescue. I had shut my eyes for the fifth time trying to make them disappear when the telephone rang and Lucy's voice asked, "Would I meet her down town?" "Would I? I couldn't explain to Lucy because she thinks dreams are silly but I know she wondered at my sudden ambition to shop and shop and shop."

was merciless as I hurried her down to the Thompson Hardware Co. with her trying to tell me that she had on high heels and couldn't walk so fast. But she soon ran out of breath and stopped fussing about it. I had a big idea and didn't hurry to explain it to Lucy and that made her sore too. And there isn't a one of you can't buy something for in the electrical goods line and Thompson's is the place to go. I bought a good percolator, coffee machines, irons and majestical heaters. Lucy revived the idea of them to the extent of forgiving me and you'd understand that that is saying a lot if you knew Lucy.

There was when sweetest confined themselves to school children and athletes. Today they have stepped into the feminine world and everywhere we see girls and women wearing them. There are attractive styles at Warren M. Crosby's. Lucy and I like the slip-over-the-head models in light weight yarns. They come in all colors and are laced at the waist and elbow with silk and velvet ribbons.

Little folks need good pencils for the difficult business of learning to write, so Lucy bought her little Benny an "Eversharp" at the Hall book store. The lead is solid and makes a good clear mark.

It is a real pleasure to go in Miss Addis's jewelry store and enjoy seeing her beautiful things and not have a lot of price marks staring you in the face.

We bought our Christmas cards at the Topeka Art store. Some are dignified, some gay, but each carries its message of Xmas cheer.

The last thing I tucked under my arm contained something dear to every woman's heart—a silk jersey petticoat from the Parisian. It is navy blue with a double flounce of broad-corded accordion-plaited silk jersey. (Advertisement.)

HELD GRIPS FOR CHAIR

Hotel Reid Dispute Settled After Reaching City Attorney's Office.

The proprietor of the Hotel Reid Fourth street and Kansas avenue, held $50 worth of baggage to guarantee payment for a rocking chair of questionable value, according to the story told police and city officials by Fred Kuhnle, of Clyde, and three other young men en route home from the coal fields in southeastern Kansas, where they answered Governor Allen's call for volunteers.

The youths told the city attorney that when they started to check out of the hotel they found the proprietor had $5 charged against them for breaking a rocking chair. The baggage valued by them at $50 was held to insure payment, they claimed. Upon appealing to the city attorney the boys finally obtained their baggage upon payment of $3 for the chair.

Chicago U. Frat Men Invest Laundry Money in Machinery.

Chicago, Dec. 13.—The week's supply of linen at a University of Chicago fraternity house today was packed on the closet shelves and the money that would ordinarily have gone to the laundry company was used as first payment on a washing machine and mangle. It was the "house" men's first blow at the high cost of living.
